DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-16, drawn to a catheter, classified in class 606, subclass 108.
- II. Claims 17-20, drawn to a method for delivering a prosthesis, classified in class 623, subclass 1.11.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used to expand a body lumen.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

During a telephone conversation with the applicant's attorney, Mr. Regis Worley on 3/26/2007 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of group I, claims 1-16. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action.

Art Unit: 3734

Claims 17-20 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1 and 11 recite a catheter for delivering a vascular prosthesis within a body vessel, the vascular prosthesis having a radially self-expanding distal section and a proximal helical section in the preamble of the claims. In the body of the claims, the limitation “vascular prosthesis” is not positively recited as a structural limitation of the claimed invention. It is not clear whether or not the claimed invention includes a combination of “a vascular prosthesis having a radially self-expanding distal section and a proximal helical section” and a catheter.

Claims 2-10 and 12-16 are dependent to claims 1 and 11, therefore are also rejected for the same reason.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3734

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8, 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Limon-6,273,910.

As to claims 1-8, 10-15, Limon-'910 (Figs. 1, 2 and 10; col. 8, lines 36-53) discloses a balloon catheter for an angioplasty procedure comprising elongated member 38, balloon 40 having ridges/collards/polymer layers/shoulders/raised features 43 as means for engaging the distal section of a vascular prosthesis, sheath 46 substantially as recited in the claims.

It appears that a vascular prosthesis is not positively recited in the claims and the claims just require that the device is capable of being used with a vascular prosthesis in a manner as recited in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Limon-6,273,910.

Limon-'910 discloses substantially the claimed invention, except for radiopaque markers positioned as claimed. However, providing radiopaque markers to a catheter for monitoring the operation of the catheter in a patient body is well known in the art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide radiopaque markers as claimed for monitoring the operation of the catheter in a patient body.
